was women in the Lubbock community. The majority associated risks and cancers.

Conclusions

Results indicated that those more sexually active and those using contraception were more likely to have received the Gardasil 9uc wæreination. With these populations more susceptible to sexually transmitted infections, such as