1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. This is essential for ensuring the integrity of the financial statements and for providing a clear audit trail. The records should be kept up-to-date and should be easily accessible to all relevant parties.

2. The second part of the document outlines the procedures for the collection and distribution of funds. It is important to ensure that all funds are collected in a timely and accurate manner and that they are distributed to the appropriate recipients. The procedures should be clearly defined and should be followed consistently.

3. The third part of the document describes the methods for the calculation and reporting of the financial results. This includes the determination of the total income, the calculation of the expenses, and the preparation of the financial statements. The results should be reported in a clear and concise manner and should be subject to regular review and audit.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the role of the governing body in the management of the organization. It is the responsibility of the governing body to ensure that the organization is managed in a responsible and transparent manner and that the interests of all stakeholders are protected. The governing body should also be responsible for the approval of the financial statements and for the distribution of the funds.
